Hi,

With less than 1 month to go until this year's event we have 25 teams committed already leaving just 10 spaces left to fill to give us a maximum grid of 35. So there is still time if you haven't already signed up via the link above (right) to make sure you are part of this annual fund raiser for Help for Heroes.

Even if you are unable to race spectators and visitors are very welcome to come and support us or to get a taste for maybe entering their own team next year. So if you are free on the 6th of May please drop by and have a look for yourself.

Karting for Heroes has been running since 2010 and over the years we have had entries ranging from Miss England Finalists, Companies, Mates, Racers and the Military, all with varying degrees of karting experience. Some of these came for the karting first and the cause secondary, for others it was the reverse but the result was the still the same with the money raised going to a very worthy cause. So I would like to thank all of the past and present teams along with those who have supported us off track who have helped make Karting for Heroes a very worthwhile and important event in helping change and improve the lives of our service personnel.

Our auction is filling up nicely with an assortment of items, with more on the way to us.

Thanks to a very generous K4H supporter we have a donation of a unique item which we expect will get a lot of interest on the day.

Dimensions: 59cm wide x 42cm high (A2)

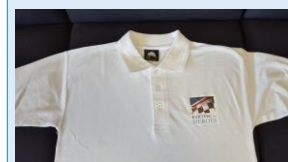

"Back in 2013 when Sebastian Vettel was racing for Red Bull and on target to win his 4th championship he did a photo shoot with one of their sponsors, car manufacturer Infiniti. After the shoot they had 3 of these boards each with a different picture that they decided to put on Twitter as a competition for the fans. It was as simple as re-tweeting their post and they chose someone at random to win each board. The picture on this board is taken from the 2013 Bahrain Grand Prix, and it is the only board of its kind. The signature is not a print."

The auction makes a big difference and with no cost it means 100% of the bid goes to H4H. If you are able to offer anything for the auction please get in touch.

Almost anything accepted 😊
